Banaw Creek

My dear Sir,

Just a line to report progress. We have pretty well finished with the Kaitish - Unmatheora tribes - and but there is plenty of which we could find only if we had more time but we have worked out I think the main features which differ from those of the Arunta to make it of interest to understand them. In many respects of course their ideas are fundamentally similar to those of the Arunta but in regard to Totemism we have got a little further on in one respect. It is abundantly clear that in the minds of the Kaitish the men of the totem are entirely responsible for the latter.
in our thoughts and deeply interested, though we work so we shall be thankful once more to see home again and find all well there.

You may perhaps have heard of the sudden death of my father; it was a great shock to me as he took, apart from everything else, the jealous interest in our work and was as pleased with it as if he were done it himself. I was much looking forward to seeing him once more when it was over - published but now that is not to be.

I hope you are well and not over-worked or worried. Give my kindest regards to Scott if you chance to see him. I don't think that I shall have time to write to him this mail.

In two days we go north to Tennant Creek to work the Warrawungga & possibly the Waagoo also. This is an dreadfully mountainous dry kind of country where everything save rain
