ALLEYNE HOUSE,
ST ANDREWS,
SCOTLAND.

Dec 2.

Dear Macmillan

Very many thanks;
it is in the chapter of
decorative art, however, that the question turns.
I hope Mr Spencer will try to see these Garnog and ~~Dun~~ Dunbarie things; he will be the best judge

as to whether Scots of some unknown

antiquity were in all things like his

Aranta books. 16 So,

another old antiquarian

mystery is cleared up.

If he can't come

worth, they should

send him photographs,

but sendan inspection

is far better. # 1"

wish I could get an illustrated mag to let me write on them,

but it is not popular.

If you can't get The Highland in 1750, I have a copy here, but a book not a year old,

and certainly not out of print, ought to be obtainable.

Old Man has a dirty copy knocking about. Don't buy it.

Yours very truly

A Lang
