

Sturminster Newton,

Blandford 19th Sept-1884

Dear General Pitt-Rivers,

The difference between the Farms of Stringbury & Hodge is as follows viz, the old Aunble Land on the former's holding is all old Aunble or original Aunble & on the latter about 450 acres of Land have broken up from one League or in other lands from Down or Still Brable, some years ago when Corn sold well it was the fashion to break up these hill lands but it was a great mistake and should not have been done & in these days good down land not broken would be quite as valuable or more so than in Corn Brable land there can be no doubt that Strigobry's Down is worth much more on here than the other.

I remain

Your very obedt. Servant

Alfred
