

Send you an Eastbourne Paper with an account of one he gave here a few days ago. It seems to me most desirable, that all those treasures now buried in Museums should be brought more into popular notice.

I remain

Yours truly

W.R. Andrews

Amnd
Oct. 31/94

L1089

HAWARDEN LODGE,
JUPPERTON ROAD,
EASTBOURNE.

October 30th
1894

Dear General Pitt-Rivers

There is at present a vacancy in the British Museum for an assistant in the Ethnographical Department, for which my son, Arthur Westlake Andrews, - who has already been placed on the British Museum list by the Archbishop of Canterbury, - wishes to apply - He was a Scholar of Charterhouse, Exhibitioner of Magdalen College, Oxford &c, - has a good Knowledge of French and German and has recently devoted himself with much enthusiasm to the Study of History.

Mr. A. W. Franks, the head of the Department for Ethnography, Antiquities &c, has the selection of three candidates for examination, - and if you could give my son an introduction to him it would be a great advantage.

I may mention that Arthur has a special desire to make these subjects, - Hist.: Arch.: - generally interesting to the people by means of popular lectures on the subject, - and I