Dear General Pitt-Rivers

Mr Kennard was here yesterday and states that all the Anglo-Saxon relics are to be labelled as "from Faversham Kent".

Regarding the distribution of the objects in the graves, he is only able to afford particulars as follows:— The beads comprising the

Found at Faversham

Second part of Lot- 12 were found with Lot- 14 as also the first two items of Lot- 32 viz a small bronz buckle and a small silver pin.

I see from the catalogue that you have the above, so it is fortunate, although accidental, that you have the ornaments from one interment.

There also constituted his latest "find". Payne had not seen them.
Before the collection was dispersed I had nearly every object photographed full size. so if ~~it~~ sets any of service to you for your office catalogue you can have them. For the purposes of our Anglo Saxon case, I am having the museum set coloured.

Yours very truly

J. James
