Sir

I have sent a box full of implements etc per passenger train to Fishburg Station & enclose the note sent me by the quarryman about them.
I have sent him the amount 30¢, & trust I have not paid too much for them?
I am still anxious to possess another of your books, that on Locks & Keys, which has a double interest to me as an ironmonger, & I would be glad to receive a copy in part payment if you have a few remaining.

If I may be so bold.
I have sent the flints just as received, some may be useless except to show what the mound is composed of.

Through the guards of the various South Western trains the men have great facilities for disposing of them to the Salisbury, Exeter, Worcester & Manchester Museums & the numbers found must have been quite two hundred, since their value was known to the men.

Yours respectfully

James Ralls

General Pitt Rivers

Rushmore.
