My dear General Pitt Rivers

I have been at this very excavating
about for Cripples for a fortnight a more legislation to have I never saw ever one here pain or sorrow departed or their countenance. I am writing this to accompany the photograph of Ewomb ditch as it now appears after the excavation. It does not show the details in much as I could wish. It is difficult to catch all the levels and angles. I wish I had you by my side

to adjust the camera
The embankment must have been originally upward of 50 feet high.
I have had time here
to write my paper for the Field Club next week. I have endeavored to make it interesting and engaged an artist
for the diagrams.

I have nearly finished Degeneration by Max Shand.

with interest mingled with disgust - What a mass of enclosures
randomly the author
must have looked through to be able to epitomize the jell!

I don't suppose neither Phillips nor Raskin would like to see unbalanced currency. The irrevocable deposits
I saw 70 yesterday. "Money didn't grow" followed
me all the days of my life
