Dear Sir,

The photographs of the galley reached me this morning, and I feel very greatly indebted to you for your kindness in having them taken for me. They will answer my purpose admirably. I shall instruct the draughtsman to make a pen and ink drawing from one of them in the same style that he used in drawing the other terra-cotta boats. As soon as his drawing has been zincotyp'd and worked in to a plate of illustrations, I will send you a proof of the plate. Of course, this will take some weeks, or possibly, months.

I imagine that the photographs represent the galley at half its natural size. Would you mind sending me a line to say if that is really so?

With very many thanks,
Faithfully yours,
Ed Torr,
