AVISHAYES,

SHAFTESBURY.

April 31. 1855.

Dear General Pitt Rivers

I am sorry that this wretched weather has prevented our having the pleasure of seeing you and your interesting discoveries. I also wished to explain my endeavour (as shown in the enclosed letter) to persuade the alone can the Irish Royalists be saved from ruin, and England from disastrous humiliation.

Yours truly
