Dear Sir. Very many thanks for your three beautiful Albums which I received last night. I see from the contents page which I made last night through VOL I that they will be most valuable to me. It is most interesting to find such perfect proofs of the existence in England down to Roman times of a dark, long-headed short Basque population who maintained their hereditary custom of contracted hair which had descended to them from North their hair. When they first entered Europe from Asia Europe bringing with them their village and manures their domestic ^{animals} and cereal crops which made India Asia Europe and Mesopotamia as the sources whence their civilization originated. Your researches furnish additional proof of the intimate connection of the human race which is one of the chief aids archaeologists have to rely on in studying the history of the past. I had forgotten till I saw your book that your name was once Lane Fox. I presume you are a relative of Lane Fox who is now so distinguished a member of the Prime League and who was of the Capital with me at Ch:ch Dept 40 years ago. I am
