

in extent The Justices have no power to make an order.

If Mr. Jesty does give you notice that he is going to apply for a license (which I much doubt) and it is explained to the justice before whom the case is heard by your agent that you propose planting the land and enclosing it I am perfectly certain that no justice would grant a license. but as long as it is in my hand and that

June 9th 1847

21849

171, VICTORIA STREET.

S.W.

My dear General
I have been looking into the Highway Acts and find that materials for the mending of roads cannot be got without the consent of the owner or by the license of two justices of the peace If you refuse your consent

W. E. T. 1849
The following ought to be harrowed and that will kill the weeds and the grass seed should be sown with the oats at once if you intend doing so.

Yr affly

Walter Jones

(1849)

Agnes is going on very satisfactorily with the exception of having had several bad nights
She has been very quiet and not seen any one except her aunt Maude