Dear Sir,

I enclose a few sheets
of Cranborne Chase, showing how far we have got, & how the work is being carried out.

It has occurred to me
that your suggestion

for putting "Trinobly" Printed &c" on the title
page would not do,
as this would destroy
the facsimile character of the reproduction.
I would suggest that the sentence should be printed in the centre of the page, preceding the first of the work itself; so that, while recording the fact of the reprints being done at General Rivers's order, the announcement shall not come on the facsimile part.

The enclosed is what I should propose to put on this preliminary page. kindly let me know if it is to your taste

Yours faithfully

Elliot Stock
