My dear Sir,

(L1281)

Failing yourself or some other better man than I am, it has fallen to my lot to say something to the members of the Archaeological Institute about your Carve Abbas Ham.

I earnestly wish that the task was in better hands. But if I am to undertake it, it is important that I should take such a line in my description as may please you. I therefore write to ask you to be so kind as to send me a few lines giving me an idea of your wishes, and ^{numbering} such particulars as may appear to you most important to be brought forward.

Of course I have by me a paper written under your supervision some years ago, which I read before the Field Club.

I am
yours truly
H. J. Moore
