Feb 4 "16,

Si
I have referred your case to Mr Creech my solicitor who wisely sent it into the hands of a solicitor. The clothes were ordered apparently by my son Mr Arthur Pitt a minor with out my knowledge or consent. He having an allowance for his clothes at the time ought to have bought it himself. I do not exactly Know the law on the subject but I believe you ought to have summoned him & set his father.

No doubt the solicitor writes a message on this point & if I am liable for the costs it will be found that you will be at liberty to take your course.

I am at a loss of finding your account of what is the account before.
