

21936

15 Sept. 1897

BRITISH MUSEUM,

LONDON : W C.

Dear General.

There can be no doubt
as to the similarity of your Farnham & Lanver specimens to those from Stourpaine - The type is usually flat on one face

the other being convex & worked - There are some exceptions that are worked.

on both faces.

It would I thought be worth <sup>your</sup> while searching about Stourpaine for
cores & hammerstones;
I feel sure, from the quantity of rude stones
there, that it is a factory.

I can send you a
number of typical stones
from the French Caves
if you want them

I don't remember seeing any in your illustrative series - This would be when I come back
in about a month.

Yours very truly
Charles D. Read