My dear General Pitt-Rivers

I am very much obliged indeed for your valuable present of Books. I was in the Museum yesterday & spent $\frac{3}{4}$ of an hour reading one of the Vols.

I wanted to take it away with me, but of course that was impossible. When I returned home in the evening, there to my surprise & delight were the books I had just been wishing for.

I knew absolutely nothing about the matters treated of in yr:

books before I came to Hendley. Since then the little I have picked up from your "diggings", the Museum, & your books has opened up a most interesting subject for thought & study.

Again thanking you very heartily and anticipating much pleasure
