

a little. In the Sat. & Win.

Journal of 5-day, an article appears from my pen on its Disafforestation, which might possibly interest you. It is on page 7 first column. That I may have something further to say is my excuse for taking the liberty to remind you of my last communication.

When last at the Summer Mrs Pitt-Rivers did me the honor of stating I was at liberty to see Rushmore when I could come down, & if I may consider the invitation to remain open to me until the long days of early summer again return, I shall be very happy.

I remain, Sir,
yours faithfully
A. H. Kingsbury

Dear Sir,
Recently I sent you a few old works I found in the Forest, & mentioned a little matter about a Roman camp. As you have not acknowledged them, and I to take the mound where I found the works is no better than a rubbish heap, & the Roman camp of no interest to you — or any way the Forest & Forest questions are things you wish to leave alone?

I mention the matter as I have been taking advantage of this glorious fall to go into Forest questions
