My dear General,

I write to thank you for the beautiful photos of the diggers at Ewerne which awaited my return home from Isle of Man. I am glad to know that you have uncovered

Such an interesting group of buildings. Sir Talbot Baker writes me that you have dug up some ancient Brit. coins and an ancient Briton in the bones. I shall look for the printed account of the discoveries.

I have been digging Irish Elms in the Isle of Man, and at the same time stirring the manse men to found 'a national' museum further

Very interesting antiquities, which are mostly of the bronze age.

With all good wishes for Mrs and the new year to Mrs Pitt-Rivers and yourself

Yours sincerely
M de Genne

Yours truly
