(22054) CHALBURY RECTORY,
WIMBORNE.

My dear Sir,

I, the accompanying Arrow head of any use to the Museum? My Son picked it up in S. Dakota (near Edgemont) lately. When he shewed it to a neighbour, who told him he knew a cave, the floor of which was strewn with Flints: it was not quite near enough for Richard to pay it a visit & examine it. He tells me the modern (Red) Indians make something like them,

by heating the Flint or Jade, & applying it gently to a lump of Ice, which causes the little bits of Flint or Jade to chip off!

We trust Mrs Pitt Rivers & yourself are in good health, & with our best respects,

I remain

Yours truly

G. A. Billington.
