I am very grateful for your information
about the shell fragments

It was found with many other pieces of the same character
but of varying size &
thickness amongst
the remains of the

Potters of British Roman
age. This seems to point to its being taken from the chalk
of them also under the pottery as there is a
good depth of drift
on the chalk where it was found.
Very sincerely
yours
