Christ Church,
Oxford.

My dear Sir,

Please accept my very sincere thanks for your fourth most splendid volume, which has just reached me here, & which I regard as the most valuable addition made to my library for a good time. I had read with much interest & admiration the part of it which you issued before & were kind enough to send me: I shall hope to learn much from the rest of the volume.

The Romano-British trench which you describe on pp. 240-1 reminds me of a ^{smaller} trench which I once saw cleared at Eastbourne & which I thought might be connected with a rude habitation.
I was only a visitor at the excavation: if I can get any plans (if such exist) I will venture to send them to you - but it was several years ago. Believe me to be

Yours very gratefully

To General Pitt Rivers.

Dear Sir.

I am doing the Annunciation panel ^{in mind} over again, remedying the defects you pointed out.
It will be finished very soon when I will send it on to you. We have thought a great deal about the Lama you wrote about as forming a subject, for enamel. I should like to do it very much.

- Introducing figures in a play as you suggested.

- Could you send me photographs or drawings of the place, upon which I might make a design
- which I should be very glad to submit to you before carrying out.

Yours faithfully
Alexander Fisher
