Dear Sir,

I thank you for sending me your 4th
vol. Excavations in Cranborne Chase
I am reading it before I send on to our Essex A. S. Libry at Colchester It is full of interest to me I find two chapters on 216 to 239
pp.

of great value. This point (the distribution of the use of ornament in decoration) has never, so far as I know, been worked out as it might be. The chevron form seems to have been in use among Romano-British potters in Eastern Britain but as I am away from my own little collection (which is at Chiswick Museum) & away from our Society's collection at Colchester I am unable to say if the No 3 pattern  is in evidence.

I hope to make some sketches of the various forms of ornament some day

I should like to get that chapter of your book for my own use & will willingly pay for it if it is to be bought of you
