

How the other day - he is, as you see no doubt aware our best authority on "Early Man" in Italy, and for years he has devoted his attention to the "Terremare" and "Fond. di Caparra", and it is a very great pity that he has not yet written a comprehensive and general work on the subject.

I am always "taller the size" in my comparative investigations on the different
"Stone ages", but it is rather uphill work and I have so many other things to look after being a University professor with a large class of students and having a big Zoological Museum to look after.

Again, pray accept my grateful thanks and hearty best wishes, and believe me
Yours very truly
Henry H. Giglioli.

Lieut.-General W. Pitt-Rivers F.R.S.
Abraham

Giglioli.

R. ISTITUTO DI STUDI SUPERIORI
IN FIRENZE
DIREZIONE DEL MUSEO ZOOLOGICO
DEI VERTEBRATI

42333

Firenze, 19 Via Romana

22nd Jan. 1899.

Dear General Pitt-Rivers,

I have just returned from Rome, where I have been for the last 3 weeks on Government business, and I find here the fourth volume of your magnificent work illustrating the "Excavations in Cranborne Chase", which you have been good enough to send me in kind compliance to the wish I took the liberty to express in my last letter. Pray accept my cordial thanks for this new proof of your valued friendship and consideration.

I have only as yet had time to look through your splendid volume, which is as teeming with interesting information on "early man" in Britain as its predecessors. I can only again give expression to my unbounded admiration at the wonderful monographic work you have done. I only wish that the Terremare of our Emilian provinces could be illustrated in something like your style. I was saying as much to my friend Prof. Pigorini in

22^a Jan. 1899
Dear General Pitt-Rivers

R. ISTITUTO DI STUDI SUPERIORI
IN FIRENZE
DIREZIONE DEL MUSEO ZOOLOGICO
DEI VERTEBRATI

I have just returned from Rome, where I have been for the last 3 weeks on Government business, and I find here the fourth volume of your magnificent work illustrating the "Cavensone Chase". Which you have been good enough to send me in kind compliance to the wish I took the liberty to express in my last letter. Pray accept my cordial thanks for this new proof of your valued friendship and consideration.

I have only a few lines to say to you at present, which is no reason for not writing you a longer letter. I can only give expression to my undoubted admiration at the wonderful zoographic work you have done. I only wish that the territories of our British provinces could be illustrated in something like your style. I was talking as much to my friend Prof. Giglioli in Rome the other day - he is, as you are no doubt aware our best authority on "Early Man" in Italy, and for years he has devoted his attention to the "Terremare" and "Fondi di Capanna", and it is a very great pity that he has not yet written a comprehensive and general work on the subject.

I am always "nulla die sine linea" in my comparative investigations on the different "Stone ages", but it is rather uphill work and I have so many other things to look after, being a University professor with a large class of students and having a big Zoological Museum to look after.

Again, pray accept my grateful thanks and hearty best wishes, and believe me

Yours very truly
Henry H. Giglioli

Lieut.-General A. Pitt-Rivers F.R.S.
Rushmore