

Alma House, Weymouth 1899

December 4

1899

Weymouth
L2428

Sir,
I have two very
old iron horse-shoes
that I found some years or two ago. One was found somewhat deep in the clay near St John's Weymouth. The other was found in a new road
made at the north end of the Lockwater here, & with it a fair sized stone cell, part of a double stone house with a

hole in the case for the handle; a part of an embalmed stone given.

If you could give me
any information about the origin or age of these, I should be very much obliged, and I hope you will excuse
the liberty I take in troubling you thus.

I would love to look
to hear of your present health, or
that it may be better

I beg to remain

Sir

Your Obedt Servt.
