Dearest Papa.

I am so sorry
to hear you are not quite so well and that you do not eat your breakfast. I have asked about a cook
the Blachetto had
who was very good but unfortunately

He has got a good place. I was very glad to get the children home as it is very dull without them. They all enjoyed being at Trushmore so much. I wish you could come here it would be such a pleasure to have you, but even if you cared about it, it would be a risk as our house is very cold after Trushmore. We have not got the workmen out of the house yet, and we ought to see to the cellars which we are afraid of falling into through the hall any day, but can not afford it yet a while. I have got another
