Dearest General,
I saw the enclosed
little extract in a paper today.
You see it is not
a private confidential agreement of Lord Portman's.

We had such a happy visit
to Rushmore, Jr.
which means
thanks - I am so sorry about
the butter.

it is welcome for
you all.
We are looking forward to seeing the Pitt broods
on Monday.
We love you all
for being off.

The Blandford Battle of Flowers, which I have previously mentioned, is to be held on September 3, under the auspices of the Dorset Health Association and District Nursing Fund. Among those who have granted their patronage are the Earl and Countess of Ilchester, Viscount and Viscountess Portman, the Countess of Leven and Melville, Lord and Lady Alington, Lord Stalbridge, Lord and Lady Wolverton, Hon. H. B. Portman, Sir Charles and Lady D'Oyly, Sir W. Parke, Sir William and Lady Smith-Marriott, Sir Talbot and Lady Baker, and Mr. J. K. and Mrs. Wingfield Digby.
