Sir

I do not expect that anything else will be found, unless work is begun to find systematically. It is the side of an old stone quarry, that appears to be little used at all; lately, a small lot of stone removed, has shown the two graves that I mentioned. Doubtless there are several there

Now, if some have names as been destroyed I was at Blandford
yesterday. Mr Dundas
mentioned to me an earthwork, at Darrant Zusville, as a most extraordinary one. Do you know it? It appears to me from his description, one that ought to be investigated.

I am in
Yours very truly
