I don't remember
saying to Donald that you ought to pay the $150 B.W. Crompton but Stroyer is bound to pay in 3 months for nothing;
but I did say to Donald that he would explain to you the circumstances. Was I right Stroyer found himself ~~with that sum~~ liable for

namely his unwillingness to go into the locked box to have what the public know that Arthur was in a mental asylum and I said to the group that I thought he was right when not to avoid such a disclosure

I am most sorry that
the group should have perceived your good
will by any disrespect
and disregard of it

wishes. I hope that the experience of years has shown him that he acted wrongly and that if his life were to begin again he would act differently.
I am so sorry that with a withered hand
the pain of writing, but thank you for writing
kindly whenever
must have been amused - Almeda
