

2304

British Museum.

W.C. May 12. 1889.

My dear Pitt-Rivers

I owe you many apologies for never writing to thank you for your medalet which is an excellent idea & much prettier than Colt Horse's ticket. I deposited it into my note in the Medal Room & consequently (as well as from my mind & body being afflicted by a very bad cold) I never wrote to you.

British Museum
W.C.

It is an age since I have seen you. I have been this year very much of a prisoner.
I contrived to sleep in a dark bed last autumn in Germany & contracted a cold which has constantly returned, helped by the East winds, so I have eschewed all evening dissipation.

Ever yours truly

Augustus W. Franker