

Make them over to such an excellent museum.

I remain truly yours

Dear Sir

Remembering your interesting agricultural museum I venture to offer for acceptance (or refusal) a large water jar of red earthen ware; hand-made without wheel; glazed with ochre & oil rubbed in with a pebble; such as is in General use throughout the Canary Isles; & worth 10^d Size 16 inches diameter 9½ high; with small base.

Also Sheath Knife, with brass & horn handle, nicely inlaid with brass & copper wire.

Made only in Grand Canary but universally carried by men in the sash or belt.
Value 2/-.

I have also small quantities of the "Gofio" or meal ground from corn of any sort, or several mixed together, but always parched in the grain, & not cooked afterwards for eating.

This meal is the general food of the islanders in the Canaries.

If foods are of interest I have a cake or two of "Cassava" from Jamaica.

If you should care to accept either or all of these objects it will give me great pleasure to
