

It would be glad if you can find a few minutes to read the most happy

John Samson

to have my friend to send an account of your

Journal.

Palace,
Salisbury.

L3884

August 13. 1887.

Sir.

The Bishop desires me to say that the book he was looking for and which he thought might belong to you is

"Notes on the Ancient Royal Palace of Clarendon" apparently reprinted from an Antiquarian publication scale gradails

It is bound in white leather.

If it is <sup>Yours</sup> ~~son~~ will you kindly let him have a postcard to that effect.

Yrs truly

Henry Dugdale

My dear General

I add to this note above to say that I have sent you a copy of the lectures the invertebrate journal containing amongst other things a copy of my Stomach (cop. 2) presented last Sunday - which contains my view abt whether one letting get breakfast
