Dear Sir

I take the liberty of asking you if you received L'abbé Baudry's book on Roman pilgrimages forwarded by Mr Bloxam.

I am in no hurry for the book & merely wish to know whether it is safe in your hands.

Yours truly

Charles Seidler

Assured the book to be returned to Mr Seidler at once

London, W.C. Sept 10th 1887.

Sir,

It is with great regret that I have to inform you that my father-in-law, Mr. William Wareham, was drowned in the yachting catastrophe at Ilfracombe on the 26th August last.

Under his Will, I have succeeded to the business, and I hope soon to be able to communicate further on the subject.

Your obedient servant
Geo. R. Harding.
