Dear General Pitt-Rivers

The opposition to the Supplementary Grant was for the most part on economic grounds, but it was happily got over.

I have been to the British Museum seeing about the Coin Degeneration Series. Had and another man who seemed extremely clever undertook to get a set of casts sent here from which a smaller set may be selected for electrotyping. Ready in a little book called "Morphology of Coins" has some interesting points, but I hear of nothing better for explaining the principle than the Evans set. I am puzzled however with the band crossing the wreath at right angles, which is not accounted for by the Macedonian state. Have you looked into this?

You saw I think the asserted Andrea Ferrara given by Mt. Richard of Magdalen.
