Extract

" In 1843 when digging for a plantation at Blackmoor, near Selborne Hants, 2 earthenware jars were found, only a few inches below the surface, which were found to contain over 30,000 Roman & Romano-British coins. They belong, practically speaking to the latter period of the Roman occupation of this country." —

" x x x x

There were no gold or silver coins among them. They are all copper or some alloy." —
