

L477

WHATCOMBE, BLANDFORD.
—AND TELEGRAPH—

April 5 1880

My dear friend Pitt Rivers

We are so glad to hear that Mrs Pitt-Rivers is recovering from her bronchial attack. The East wind has very unpropitiously towards perfect recovery. I have just returned from Weymouth to inspect East practice referred the place almost unbearable. I went down to see some geological points including an almost perfect Pleistocene. What I think will prove to be a new species also a fossil tooth from the

Whitcomb
Blanchard
1844

Hummer's clay at Sandport Co. The shells appear to differ nothing in shape from the alderman fauna. The back runs up almost to a ridge from head to tail. How intensity is in your account of the Racine. It will be of great advantage to the neighborhood if a couple of broad and at Racine. The they are each said I shall be glad to see of a colony there you have a wide range of district and it is to be hoped they will confine themselves to the limits over which you have control I have sent ^{off} a copy of the print of Dinet for your kind acceptance. I cannot conceive why Mr. (ambly) has been so scrupulous

Yours
My dear General Pitt Rivers
Yours truly
J. I. Mansel-Pleydell