Dear General Pitt-Rivers

I parted from Mr Walker at Fishbury
looked at the church, & at the fine ruinous
old yew-tree, whose circumference I estimated as 27 feet at least -

I expect that
in two or three days
you will receive from my cousin Dr Christison, (one of the sons of old Sir Robert) a copy of a paper of his on the Peebleshire Soots, which I think will interest you -

Perhaps you will kindly ask Mr James
to be so good as
let me have, when convenient, a copy
of the measurements
of the long bones of the

Rotherley people, that I may try my own
plan of estimating the stature upon them -

Believe me
Yours sincerely
John Buddoe
