

25 Rossetti Garden Mansions
Chelsea London S.W.

14th April 1891

Dear General Pitt Rivers,

Mr W. W. Faulder, whom I have known for some years, as a student and collector of ancient arms, writes to me that he is a candidate for the post of Assistant in your Archaeological Explorations.
May I venture to say that I have every reason to believe that by his tastes, studies and application to archaeological research, Mr. Faulder is eminently qualified for such a post. He is a man of learning, whose principal ambition is I believe to occupy his mind and time with archaeological pursuits.

I shall be in London, at this address, for a fortnight or so, and if you should come to London before I leave, it would be a great pleasure to me to call on you, and arrange a visit to S. Kensington with you.

Believe me
very faithfully yours
C. A. de Corson
