My dear Mr. Stinson

Dear Sir
re Newspaper

Enclosed please find a few more specimens of partly printed newspaper sheets. These are all too big and I only send them to show what is being done in this line. The loss on a large sheet will not be in the price but in the cost of filling up the unprinted parts. There would be too little local news and of course advertisements could not be got. The only way would be to keep one or two pages of descriptive matter with illustrations of museum specimens standing. The printing would cost hardly anything if type were kept standing but I should only commence with the small death errors that I brought up on Sunday week last. If you cared to make any attempt to influence the elections for Parliament, County Council, or other offices now would be a very good time to commence. Personally I am too dissatisfied with both parties to desire to have anything to do with politics & I wd suggest a strong independent course the better. I was going to Lamer last Sunday yesterday had not the rain come on, however I can come up almost any Sunday should you decide to start the paper wd care to consult me in reference to it. If I were living anywhere near I wd try it myself I am quite sure there is no necessity for any serious loss there wd of course be a little loss.

Yours truly
Wm. Carter
