Dear Sir

Will you kindly let me have the fragments back that came from Trewatha. I want to keep all together.

There are several barrows this we opened two. One contained a list, nothing in the list, but beneath the list was a bed of clay, & under the bed of clay a flat stone, beneath this flat stone a hollow scooped out of the virgin soil & ashes in it. no flint, no pottery.

The other barrow was imperfectly explored, we were driven from it twice by a storm of wind & rain.

I remain
your truly

S. Barry Gould
