

has never spent a shilling on luxuries - though he has thrown away 1000 on follies.
I hope when this is all over he will acknowledge your good intentions towards him & that there may be a lasting reconciliation: as it is I thank you on his behalf very heartily.
I hope your finger is not very troublesome & that you are feeling stronger & more yourself after the

VICTORIA BARRACKS,
WINDSOR.

15.3.92.

My Dear Father:

It is very good of you to send me that Cheque (£20) for S. 3/4 rough.
I quite agree with what you say in the matter of the fingers & I think you

Yours truly,
Wm. Pitt-Rivers

his case is so far advanced there is no fear of its being abandoned: especially as they think they are winning round down - of this I am not so certain. Will you cheque of £20 with love in very respectfully. I wrote to Jack last to say nothing under a strong sense of duty for St. George. He was fighting a question involving 1000<sup>s</sup> & had to employ (for I asked him how he was getting on the petty cash!) that he could not pay his lodging bill & had over-drawn his account at Bouverie's <sup>£15</sup> ~~and~~ - a small sum - but large when every penny has to be counted. He