

Temple Bar

(L92)

6 April 1887.

My dear Pitt Rivers

Now that you are the Inspector of Ancient Monuments I expect you will shortly require some assistants - I can recommend you two very
excellent men - viz,
J. A. Webster who has had some training in Archaeology & excellent at accounts & writing &

the mid is George Payne of Sittingbourne
who is well known to all antiquaries as the possessor of a fine collect<sup>n</sup> of Kentish antiquities & a thoroughly good man
for out of door work
which he would enjoy
above everything.

Whenever you want to hear anything about these men I will give you references. They would both suit you. Payne for field work & Webster for secretary.

With best regards

Yours very sincerely

H. Pitt Rivers