

An account of them may be appended to the report of progress which we are anxious to publish as soon as possible.

So many enquiries have been made for authentic information concerning this discovery that we think it very desirable to have the report issued before the end of this year.

If you will kindly undertake to examine these skulls I shall have much pleasure in forwarding them, and the Society will feel itself very much indebted to you.

I am, Dear Sir,

Yours very truly,

R. W. Atkinson
Hon. Secretary

L581

44 Loudoun Sq.
Cardiff

26th Oct. 1888

CARDIFF NATURALISTS SOCIETY.

General Pitt-Rivers,

Dear Sir,

As you are, I believe, aware, this Society has made a discovery of Roman Remains at Llantwit Major in Glamorganshire, and in one of the rooms of this Roman building 41 human skeletons have been found.

The skulls of nine of these are in a sufficiently good state to admit of examination, and I am requested to ask if you would do the Society the honour of undertaking the examination of these 9 skulls so that